Utah Women & Newborns Quality Collaborative

Neonatal Committee Progress 2020

This committee has historically worked on Neonatal Abstinence Syndrome (NAS) and is pivoting to a new project. A Doctorate of Nursing Student is working on a Thermoregulation Toolkit which is currently being piloted. The National Network of Perinatal Quality Collaboratives (NNPQC) and the Institute for Healthcare Improvement (IHI) provided the opportunity for the committee chair, along with another board member and our Quality Improvement Director, to participate in the IHI Breakthrough Series (BTS) College. This virtual training provided 24 hours of Quality Improvement training as well as networking opportunities with other states and an ongoing monthly training topic series in 2021.
